

TPP 50th Anniversary April 12 & 13 Keynotes

“Be the Early Worm: Reasons for Educational Optimism in Uncertain Times”

Friday 5:15PM, McCormick 101

Teacher Prep alumna, Jennifer Jennings, '00, is the Director of the Education Research Section and a Professor of Sociology and Public Affairs in the Woodrow Wilson School.

Dr. Jennings specializes in analyzing racial, socio-economic, and gender disparities in educational and health outcomes. Her research attempts to understand the effects of a variety of educational policies - for example, accountability policies, teacher evaluation systems, and school choice policies - on racial, socioeconomic, and gender inequality in educational outcomes.

“The Role of Teachers in Creating a More Equitable and Just Society”

Saturday 11:00AM, McCosh 10

Pedro Noguera is the Distinguished Professor of Education at the Graduate School of Education and Information Studies at UCLA.

His research focuses on the ways in which schools are influenced by social and economic conditions, as well as by demographic trends in local, regional and global contexts. Dr. Noguera will discuss strategies that are being utilized successfully by teachers, even in the most disadvantaged communities where the needs are great to motivate, engage and meet the learning needs of their students.

Free and Open to the Public

TeacherPrep
PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PROGRAM IN TEACHER PREPARATION

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY
Humanities
Council

UcHv University Center for Human Values

DEPARTMENT OF
SOCIOLOGY

WOODROW WILSON
SCHOOL
of Public & International Affairs
PRINCETON UNIVERSITY